

Conference Opening and Welcome Remarks

Justin Schwartz is the Harold and Inge Marcus Dean of Engineering and a professor of engineering science and mechanics and mechanical engineering. Before joining Penn State in 2017, Schwartz was Kobe Steel Distinguished Professor and head of the department of materials science and engineering at North Carolina State University. Schwartz's research interests include superconducting, magnetic and multiferroic materials, and the systems they enable.

Since 2016, Patrick has served as the inaugural director of the Center for Global Engineering Engagement. Patrick's previous experiences in academia include managing Virginia Tech's Presidential Global Scholars Program in Switzerland. He began his career in Washington D.C. as a legislative aide on Foreign Affairs and Judiciary Committee issues for a U.S. Senator. Patrick earned a master's degree from SDA Bocconi University in Milan, Italy and is pursuing a doctorate at Penn State.